As you can see the decorated samples have arrived for the Consett ore wagon. There are just a few very minor fixes to change and then we go right into production. If you haven't placed your order then don't delay. Production is underway, with delivery expected to be Autumn of this year. This is subject to change.

Bellerophon

Following the announcement that we are making Bellerophon in OO gauge, we had the preserved loco 3D scanned. We did this to ensure that all of the wonderful detail was captured. We encourage you to show your support by signing up for the expression of interest. The order book will be open soon, and we expect demand to be very strong. We will only be making a limited quantity of each livery.

Bellerophon Expression of Interest

With progress moving along at a pace with the Hunslet BO-BO, we can now release more updates from the latest set of CAD's. There will be 3 model variants with 4 livery options.
